The University of Georgia Chamber Music Society is a new student run organization designed to help undergraduate students of all majors continue their passion for music. Our mission is to give talented musicians at the University of Georgia the resources necessary to experience the joy of making music with others, while combining performance with service. Not only will students be able to form ensembles with others of their skill level, but they will also be presented with charitable opportunities to play for venues in the Athens community. It's a win-win for everyone: students get to make music and Athens benefits.

We're about music, community, and having fun.

We're about making music accessible for all.
