Please join us and congratulate the students on their hard work this semester!*

The University of Georgia Chamber Music Society is a student-run organization designed to help undergraduate students of all majors continue their passion for music. Our mission is to give talented musicians at the University of Georgia the resources necessary to experience the joy of making music with others, while combining performance with service. Not only will students be able to form ensembles with others of their skill level, but they will be presented with charitable opportunities to play for venues in the Athens community. It's a win-win for everyone: students get to make music and Athens benefits.

We're about music, community, and having fun.
We're about making music accessible for all.

Special thanks to St. Gregory's Episcopal Church for allowing UGA Chamber Music Society to use their beautiful facilities!

Thank you to all our wonderful donors who helped start the organization and make this spring recital possible. More donations are welcome!
